

PART III.

*RULES UNDER THE AGRICULTURISTS' LOANS ACT, XII OF 1884.

Under the provisions of section 4 of Act XII of 1884 the Governor of Bombay in Council is pleased, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, to prescribe the following rules as to loans to be made for the purposes hereinafter appearing to

---

*In Government Resolution No. 3016 of 2nd May, 1891, Revenue Department, the Governor in Council has laid down the following instructions for the guidance of District officers in making advances to cultivators under Acts XII of 1884 and XIX of 1883, viz :—

(1.) Government do not wish that these Acts should remain a dead letter. This fact should be generally made known to the rayats and due notice should be taken of all cases in which the rayats complain of inattention on the part of the Government officers in the matter of making advances.

(2.) The public notice contemplated in Section 5 of Act XIX of 1883 should not be issued except in cases of large loans for improvements which might affect prejudicially neighbouring holdings.

(3.) The Commissioners of Divisions in their joint report on this subject have made the following suggestions :—

“ Each Mámlatdár should select 8 or 10 villages of a reasonable size in his táluka representing as it were specimens of groups of villages in various parts of his charge. Two or three months before the sowing season he should visit each selected village, assemble the rayats in the Chávdí, and explain to them fully the rules and conditions under which the advances are to be made. He should immediately ascertain who are in want of advances, make inquiries on the spot, and grant advances then and there in cash or by means of a cheque on the Táluka Treasury. In the case of larger amounts sanction of higher authority should be obtained within a month and immediate payment made at the village by the Mámlatdár or Aval-kárkun. This should have precedence over all other work. The Mámlatdár would require about two days in each village so that the whole would not take more than a month, allowing ten days for other urgent work, magisterial cases, and travelling. The result would be that the rayats of villages in which advances are thus made, as also those of adjoining villages will practically understand what the rules are, and will be able to appreciate the benevolent intentions of Government. If this process be repeated for two or three years, changing the villages each year, every one in the táluka would thoroughly understand the rules, &c.”

These suggestions of the Commissioners are approved and should be acted upon.

(4.) The sufficiency of the security offered by the intended borrower should not be tested with unnecessary severity. The officer granting the loan should in this matter be guided by the same tests as an ordinary money-lender applies in the case of private loans.

(5.) In cases where advances prove irrecoverable, the personal responsibility of Mámlatdárs should not be enforced when no fraud is proved, and the Mámlatdár can establish to the satisfaction of the Collector and Commissioner that he made proper inquiries and took reasonable precautions.

(6.) Assistant and Deputy Collectors while on tour should set an example to the Mámlatdárs by personally taking up and disposing of a few cases every year. Instances of marked interest taken by any Táluka officers should be specially brought to the notice of Government by the Commissioners.

(7.) Applications for loans under the Agriculturists' Loans Act should be disposed of as speedily as practicable, and if possible within one month from the date of the application.

(8.) Rules 10, 13, 16, 17 and 19 under the Land Improvement Loans Act and Rules 5 (b), 7 and 10 under the Agriculturists' Loans Act should be administered by the District officers in a liberal spirit.

(9.) To bring the advantageous offers of Government to the attention of the rayats notices should be issued in all the villages throughout the district and published in the first place in the Chávdí of the village, a copy being kept in the current daftar of the village accountant.

(10.) In districts where establishments of the Agricultural Department are employed, the officers of that Department should suggest such improvements to the cultivators as occur to them.

1. Government will inform the Commissioners what sum will be available for loans under the Act in their respective divisions for each financial year. Each Commissioner will divide the allotted sum between the districts of his division at his discretion and may, at any time during the year, transfer any sum or portion of a sum assigned to one district to any other district. But expenditure within a division must be kept within the amount allotted by Government to that division. If an additional allotment be required for any division, it should be applied for by the Commissioner without delay.
